History

I am the flagpole of M. H. S. When the Class of '47 was looking for someone to write a history of their class, they picked the right one in me for I see all, hear all, and know all. However, I am breaking my lifelong habit of secrecy by telling you this.

This class has always been rather special. They are the first to graduate from a full twelve year course, and are the first class to graduate since the end of World War II.

As timid Freshmen they first came to my notice. Under the gentle guidance of Mrs. Christine Daniel and Miss Pruitt they became accustomed to the new and strange ways of high school. From the Freshman year on, Bill Murph has always won the championship of talking loudest and longest. As candidates for the Carnival King and Queen, Wanda Lee Hendricks and Roscoe Stroud were nominated. Roscoe won. At the end of this year they felt as if they were full-fledged high school students.

The next year the class marched on without Roscoe Stroud, who left. Latin was introduced into the school. Under the leadership of Bobbie Jean Smith, president, many things were accomplished. To get money to give the Seniors a banquet, the class picked cotton, sold magazines, and gave a dance. After much scrubbing (blisters and dishpan hands) and hours and hours spent in decorating, the old gym was a transformed place. The boys could hardly recognize those sloppy girls who sat beside them in class but were now transformed into smooth, poised, swishy dames with long dresses. Girls were awed by the handsome grown-up looking boys. The theme, "Astronomy", was carried out from place cards to the floor show. A ballet was given to the music of "Anniversary Waltz." Boger, Pennington, Bowden, Grose, and Murph performed by singing "Dance With A Dolly." All for one night, then back to the old routine of sweaters and skirts and school clothes and work. Much talent was discovered when a play, "Aaron Slick from Pumpkin' Crick," starring M. H. Grose, was produced. Bob Purvis and Martha Mason were candidates for the Carnival King and Queen.

As the students gathered in little knots of chattering girls and boys on the first day of the eleventh year, they noticed that Bobbie Jean Smith, Bill LeGrand, Guy Tutterow, and Lawrence Tutterow were not in their midst. Miss Weir and Miss Black were their sponsors. All the officers for this year were football players, including the able president, Harold Poplin. A school paper was started and was given the name of a previous paper, "HI LIFE." Jack Pennington was the editor. Ralph Bowden, Charles Smith, Jack Pennington, and Richard Hicks were Junior Rotarians for this year. A student council was also started. The class was proud that Mary Blackwelder won second place in the state in the "Soil Conservation" theme contest. A new football field was made and new uniforms were received. There was no graduating class in '46, so the class of '47 was set up as an example to the rest of the school for two years. At the end of the school two big truck loads of happy students went to Chrystal Lake for an all day picnic. With swimming, dancing, bowling, boat riding, singing, and eating, the day passed quickly and was put down in many minds as a pleasant day to remember sometime in the future. Lettie Lindsay Sheek and Carl Green were candidates for the Carnival Queen and King. Carl won the crown as king.

As Seniors, the students began to feel the responsibility of their position and worked for the projects of their class with an increasing zeal and co-operation. Missing were the faces of Bettie Walker (married), Clara Belle LeGrand ("Tee Tee"), Nancy Anderson (married), Lettie Lindsay Sheek ("Tish"), and Ruth Booie. Luceile Anderson, a member of the class, was chosen the County 4-H Health Queen. The Annual was started. Janie Sue Naylor and Harold Poplin were candidates for the Carnival King and Queen. Harold was a winner. The officers for the Senior year were: President, Jack Pennington; Vice-president, Wanda Lee Hendricks; Secretary, Elva Grace Carter; and Treasurer, Lou Jean Riddle. Miss Weir and Mrs. Dryden were the senior sponsors. The rings were received and were a break from the traditional round ring to a rectangular shaped ruby or black set with a crest down the middle. With the many things that a class has to do as Seniors—such as: order caps and gowns, get invitations and cards, publish an annual, give a play, go to Junior-Senior Banquet, give chapel programs, take part in a Christmas Cantata, and have a good time—the year was soon gone but not forgotten by themselves nor by the other classes that have been watching them all through the years.

This class has been exceptionally good but here comes another. Maybe it will prove to be just as successful and keep on these projects which have been started by the class of '47.

And so I still stand here—the friendly flagpole—waving goodbye to a parting class and hello to a new. It's a thrill to watch the class of '47 leave to take its place in life.

Prophecy

Hello Diary,

Today was very usual. I finally went to that swanky studio that everyone says makes such glamorous pictures and who should the photographer be 'cept Bobbie Grose?? Heard that Clarence Elam, manager of the Dodgers, offered a contract to Lewis Jones, but it wasn't accepted 'cause Elva Grace Carter was afraid Jones might get hurt. On top of the skyscraper next door, Ralph Bowden is erecting a stratosphere scraper. Saw a book review of "How I Overcome My Self-Consciousness Complete with Excerpts from '46 Diary" by Lou Jean Riddle in "Times." Boy! That paper certainly has improved since Bill Dryden took over—don't see how he does all that work, tends to seven children, and lets his wife make all those fashion trips to Paris. Horatius only sent me a new television set today—I must be slipping—wanted a new super-streamlined Ben Powell car—think I'll write "Lou's Lonely and Lovelorn Lamentations." Someone said it was written by my ole school mate, Ethel Lou McClamrock. A new Drene shampoo ad came out starring Remona Hoots and her lovely hair. Didn't get to see that movie based on book, "Murder Is Fun," by Lucilly Peoples, starring Maie Champ and Dot Cock—said to be Class of 47's Lean Maie Champion and Dorothy Glasscock. I simply must have my piano tuned by that new genius, Fred Long. When my friends raved so over a new fortune-teller, I decided to go, but saw her and she is none other than Frances Tutterow. Ran into Elva Grace Carter, Power's model at Louise Armsworthy's "Dixie Diner" during lunch and she invited me up to the penthouse of that widely known hostess, Dorothy McAllister. A flash from Walter Winchell just stated that contrary to rumor there is still a Virgil in Christine Barneycastle's life. As I was jumping into one of those new Opa Lashmit plastic creations (called a dress and OH SO expen-sive) I heard that woman with the sweet clarinet, Billie Griffith, and her band. Russell Poplin, her old drummer, is just back from a trip to South America in search of "The Fountain of Youth". Her new vocalist, "The Nightingale of America", is Luceile Anderson. A new helicopter taxi service was started today by M. H. Grose, "the second Henry Kaiser", so I hopped one to Dorothy McAllister's. As I entered the penthouse my eyes incredulously noted the decorating scheme of dodo feathers trimmed with the tail feathers of that nearly extinct bird, the sparrow. Probably that famous interior decorator, Janie Cozart, did it. Started talking to that handsome Bill Murph who is running for governor of New York, and all he would talk about was that wrestling match last night, when Martha Mason won the Ladies' Wrestling World Championship. All night, Carl McClamrock, that model farmer, spent trying to wheedle some seed of those newly developed salted peanut trees from Charles Smith, "the Burbank of Tomorrow". Someone started an argument over which dictionary was best, "Webster's or Hart-woman's". Naturally I think John's is, since I knew him in high school. About twelve o'clock the Physical Ed teacher at Harvard bustled in and tried to get us all to take limbering-up exercises. She used to be Geraldine Howard of M. H. S. The party really began some time later when Lynda Dunn with her hair dyed black swept in trailing a chinchilla coat sent directly from Billy Hendrix's rabbit farm. My back was turned to the door but as I felt the women's hearts begin to flutter, I knew that that handsome bachelor, Carl Green, had entered the room. Gladys Whitaker triumphantly entered towing—of all things—an Admiral! Those four children of Nannie June's had to be there—splitting atoms, wasting penicillin, and causing trouble. When the oldest ate too much, Dr. Lonnie Ray Whitaker was called in. He didn't know what to do but his nurse, Elnora Bowles, did. However, Nannie June hired that famous criminal lawyer, J. N. McDaniel, to file suit against him. Everyone is going mad over my new Dorothy Tutterow lifetime permanent. It is guaranteed to permanently ruin your hair and shorten your lifetime. Denton Boger, of Esquire, was there and no one could get a word in edgewise because of his talking about MY coontry estate, MY goulf coarse, MY toan hoame, My race hawses, MY etc., ad infinitum. He heartily recommended the Irene Brown hotel for a summer vacation. Jack, the head of the Pennington Carterer Firm, came in person to serve apple pie a la mode and old fashioned sweet milk. Someone has said that the only reason he started this company was because he liked to eat all the time and Wanda Lee Hendricks has him on a diet. With this type of work it is easier for him to slip something. Probably all just gossip but— Gossip has it that Wanda Lee is the reason for all those suicides in New York but—! Late when I got in but not too late to read that letter from my old friend, Geneva Naylor. Seems as if she has a big new job in New York as secretary to Murph, candidate for governorship. She said she ran into a former teacher, Miss Weir, who is now the head-knocker of Congressional Library in Washington. She gave news of all those girls I used to know: Floy Tutterow is now raising those turkeys with a "Gobble" such as used to exist in my young days; Janice Ratledge is married and was chosen as a model American mother; Estelle Allen has been a missionary in China and comes home for a visit next month. By the time I had finished reminiscencing over this long letter the sun was already up enough to heat my coffee and the paper had been sent up. Glaring headlines: RICHARD HICKS, YOUNG NEWTON, Repudiates Law of Gravitation: "Why we don't walk on our heads." Ummmmmmm I'm sleepy—Maybe a trip around the world would help break the monotony. I'll have my plane over-hauled and go in a few hours—Who knows, maybe this time I'll break my previous around-the-world-record of 20 hours in my new Supersonic plane . . .

So, Good bye, Diary———
Till tomorrow, same time ———

Nancy Ann Ijames.

Last Will and Testament

I, Estelle Allen, of sane mind and judgement, do hereby will my goodness to Joe Cecil McDaniel. I think Miss Smoot will appreciate this.

I, Luceile Anderson, do hereby will my beauty of health and voice to Jane Carolyn Dwiggins to use as Mrs. Dobbs and Mr. Hobson see fit.

I, Louise Armsworthy, being of sane mind and judgment, leave my "sweet and lovely" personality to the Junior girls to divide equally among themselves.

I, Christine Barneycastle, do leave my ability to keep a steady boy friend to Billie Ann Frost, on the condition that she try it out on someone else's boy friend.

I, Denton Boger, leave my ability to use peroxide successfully to Chester James with this old proverb, "If at first you don't succeed, dye, dye, again."

I, Ralph Bowden, leave my trip to Boys' State next year to Jimmy Campbell.

I, Elnora Bowles, leave my soft voice and helpless look to Daisy Mae Irvin with the request that she take good care of them.

I, Irene Brown, will my ability to imitate Minnie Pearl to Louise Cartner, so that the 10th grade may have some entertainment mixed with their hard work.

I, Elva Grace Carter, will my beauty and efficiency to Carroll Johnstone so that the boys will continue to fall before her devastating glances.

I, Lena Maie Champion, do hereby will my dark curls to Bertie Bowles with the hope that their subdued color will help subdue her.

I, Lynda Dunn, leave my bright red hair and "Pig Latin" to Beulah Boger to help her pass foreign language.

I, Clarence Elam, do leave my charging football power to Leon Ladd with the hope that he will someday be equal to Doc Blanchard.

I, Nannie June Gaither, leave my ability to let my class ring appear and disappear every week to Vernell White.

I, Dorothy Glasscock, leave my height to Florence Cornatzer so that she can come up to a certain Boonville boy's shoulder some day.

I, Carl Green, do will my title of "Most Handsome" to Grady Dunn so that he won't have to suffer the pangs of disillusionment.

I, Billie Griffith, leave my "Hubba Hubba" sweater to Barbara Ridenhour to verify the fact that she is "Hubba Hubba."

I, Bobby Grose, leave my arrogant, impertinent and impudent ways to George Thompson so the teachers will really be earning their salary.

I, M. H. Grose, will my Frank Sinatra voice to William Graves so "The Law" can catch the women I haven't caught.

I, John Hartman, will my big feet to Richard Foster to give him a better foundation for his great basketball career.

I, Wanda Lee Hendricks, will my "man-trap" to Rachel Grant so that she can continue to catch oodles of men.

I, Bill Hendricks, leave my ability to get along with the prettiest girl in class to the Junior boys.

I, Richard Hicks, leave my dimples and laughing brown eyes to Joe Davis to help him get to be teacher's pet.

I, Remona Hoots, leave my dependability to Betsy Short so people can keep up with her.

I, Geraldine Howard, do will my answers to the bus driver's test to Emily Wyatt.

I, Nancy Ann Ijames, leave my habit of saying the wrong thing at the wrong time to Kenneth Dwiggins who has the good habit of not saying anything.

I, Lewis Jones, leave my laziness to Marion Horn so that she will have a clear conscience when she doesn't have her physics.

I, Opa Lashmit, leave my sophistication to Betty Ann Turner to mix with her sweetness.

I, Fred Long, will my ability to catch flies to Danny Bailey 'cause she just adores them.

I, Martha Mason, leave my ability to play basketball to Colean Smith.

I, Dorothy McAllister, will my variegated hair to Sara Dot Call.

I, Carl McClamrock, leave my ability to play "Guitar Boogie" to Clyde Lakey so he can play at all next year's Ag. dances.

I, Ethel Lou McClamrock, leave my neat clothes to Betty Jo Sparks.

I, J. N. McDaniel, will my knack of giving a hot foot to Bill Collette so classes will be as interesting next year.

I, Bill Murph, leave my happy-go-lucky manner to Ed Ellis.

I, Geneva Naylor, leave my fits of giggles to Miss Harden's next year's English class so she won't miss me so much.

I, Janice Ratledge, will my four-year-old chewing guma Jean Orrell because she already has some experience.

I, Jack Pennington, leave my ability to run Mocksville High school to Donald Riddle so M. H. S. won't slow down to a walk.

I, Lucille Peoples, will my dark dark lipstick to Laverne Beauchamp 'cause no one else wants it.

I, Harold Poplin, leave my twenty-three nicknames to the Junior class to be distributed by drawing straws.

I, Ben Powell, leave my knack of twisting a few wires. pecking a few places, etc., and making ole "31" run again to all future bus drivers.

I, Janice Ratledge, will my four-year-old chewing gum to Juanita Whitaker. Take care and don't chew it over 12 hours at a time and it'll last longer.

I, Lou Jean Riddle, leave my three favorite words—bedazzle, delapidated, and emphatically—to Frances Collette to improve her vocabulary.

I, Charles Smith, will my habit of jumping straight up ten feet in the middle of physics class to R. B. Smith, because he might get a hotfoot, too.

I, Dorothy Tutterow leave my ability to talk about boys twenty hours per day to Pearl Walker to better her record of nineteen and three-fourths hours.

I, Floy Tutterow, leave my cute hairdo to Hazel Sofley to aid her in getting that mumm-looking man she always raves about.

I, Frances Tutterow, will my gaiety to Lettie Jean Foster.

I, Gladys Whitaker, leave my "come-hither" smile to Luella Ferebee so she can keep up the Ferebee traditions.

I, Lonnie Ray Whitaker, leave, period.
